Clinical Supervision

Connect to evidence-based information resources anytime, anywhere.

The NT Clinical Supervision Training and Support Program have recently purchased a specialised collection of textbooks to be housed in each of the DoH Health Libraries in the NT.

The Clinical Supervision Resource Collection is made possible with funding from Health Workforce Australia. The collection aims to support all health professionals who are engaged in clinical supervision of students, trainees or new graduates within their workplace who wish to increase their knowledge, skills and confidence in the theory and practice of workplace learning.

The Library has developed an online Clinical Supervision subject guide that can be accessed anywhere and anytime by health professionals who would like to connect to evidence-based information resources such as books, the latest journal articles, websites and more.
